More than 750 years old, the estate is located in the municipality Sulzfeld (Kraichgau area) in the German region of Baden. It is mentioned in documents already managed since 1251. The eponymous Ravensburg is the former home of the Barons Goler of Ravensburg and one of the greatest surviving castles in the Kraichgau. The vineyards are the varieties Riesling (35%), Pinot Blanc, Pinot Gris and Pinot Noir (25%), Lemberger (25%) and other planted.

Baden is the southernmost of Germany's 13 official wine regions, and also the warmest. Its relatively sunny, dry climate permits the production of good-quality Spätburgunder (Pinot Noir) and also ripe, relatively full-bodied examples of Grauburgunder (Pinot Gris) and Weissburgunder (Pinot Blanc), often in oaked styles.

It is Baden's climate, and the riper, higher-alcohol wine style to which it contributes, that led the region to be classified as zone B (every other German region is in chilly Zone A) under the European Union's vineyard climate classification.
