

WALTER SCOTT

LA COMBE VERTE

2017 PINOT NOIR

WILLAMETTE VALLEY, OREGON

A classic Willamette Valley Pinot noir in all the right ways, with a bounty of bright and dark fruits, orange-y goodness and Earl Grey tea. At once juicy and surprisingly powerful in its structure, here's your window into 2017 -- you're going to love the view. A blend of Justice, Sojourner, Freedom Hill, Clos des Oiseaux, and Prophet vineyards. - Marcus

The 2017 La Combe Verte is composed primarily from the volcanic Eola-Amity Hills vineyards of Clos des Oiseaux, Justice, Prophet and Sojourner with the marine sediment of Freedom Hill tying it all together. This Pinot Noir is fermented with ambient yeast and aged in barrel for 10 months.

The resulting wine is a serious and beautiful example of the 2017 vintage, immediately appealing, but layered with power and structure giving this wine the ability to age in your cellar for several years. The nose suggests red and black fruits, flowers and spicy earth. The fruit, tannins and acid all come together to produce what we feel is a lovely and balanced example of what the Willamette Valley gave us in 2017.