Varichon & Clerc Privilege Blanc de Blancs

NV, France (Ugni Blanc, Colombard, Chenin, Chardonnay and Jacquère)

This pale and brilliant gold wine has white fruit aromas with numerous fine bubbles. The palate is elegant, long-lasting and well balanced between freshness and fruit. Lively mineral attack giving way to aromas of white flowers and exotic fruit. This sparkler was made in the traditional method (AKA Method Champenoise), meaning that it undergoes a secondary fermentation in the bottle which produces the bubbles. $15.99/btl

Toblar Pinot Grigio

2015 Friuli Isonzo DOC, Italy

A beautiful yellow color with copper reflections, this wine is intense and complex, with floral notes of wild roses and acacia. It is elegant and full with a balanced acidity. This is a great pre-dinner (or beach) drink but also pairs well with light appetizers. $19.99/btl

Vinge del Malina Refosco Certified Vegan!

2009 Venezia Giulia, Italy (100% Refosco)

Refosco dal Peduncolo Rosso, which translates to "Refosco with the red stems", is widely regarded as the star of this indigenous grape category, with its greatest expressions coming from Friuli region of northeastern Italy. This wine has an impressive fruit intensity laced with minerality and tart acidity. This is an austere and well-balance wine. Round on the palate with firm tannins. A decade old, open the bottle early or decant for the most pleasure. $29.99/btl

Arabella Pinotage

2013 Western Cape, South Africa

I bet the first question in your mind when you read the word Pinotage was "What the hell is a Pinotage?!" Well Pinotage is a grape variety that was created in South Africa in 1925 by Abraham Izak Perold, the first Professor of Viticulture at Stellenbosch University. It is a cross between Pinot Noir and Cinsault and is now known as South Africa's signature red grape! This one possesses inviting aromas redolent of mocha and chocolate. On the palate lovely fruity notes of bananas and blueberries dance on the front end while a nice spicy, smoky undertone rounds out the back end of the wine. A great value at only $14.99/btl

Le Chateau Cabernet Sauvignon

2012 Columbia Valley, WA

This Cabernet displays intense aromas of bing cherry, mountain huckleberry, creme brulee, licorice, cloves and thyme. The palate is medium-bodied with an intriguing mix of chewy and dusty tannins that balance perfectly with natural acidity. On the finish, dark cherry, vanilla bean and lingering velvety tannins. $29.99/btl
